

Drowning in old clichés

Greg Thomas (Arr. Wayne Richmond, 2023)

A ♩=190

Fl.

B Verse 1

5

A. It was a dark and storm - y night not fit for man or beast. I was

Fl.

10

A. sit - ting a - round with a few good friends af - ter feast - ing on too much feast. We were

Fl.

14

A. shoot - ing the bull and chew - in' the fat with - out real - ly much to say. When I

Fl.

18

A. re - al - ised ev - ry - thing I said was just an old cli - ché. Well you can

Fl.

C Verse 2

23

A. lead a horse to wa - ter but you can - not make him drink. You can

Fl.

27

A. put an id - ea in my head but you can - not make me think. They

Fl.

31

A. same that time heals all your wounds well I wish it would hur - ry ___ up! ___

Fl.

35

A.
 Si - lence is gol - den so why can't I shut up!

Fl.

39 D Chorus

A.
 These old cli - chés are kil - ling me so sim - ple and con - cise. And I

Fl.

44

A.
 kick my - self right in the butt_ for not ta - king their ad - vice. Well I

Fl.

49

A. want to have my cake and eat it too and still not wind up fat. They say pro - cras - tin - a - tion is the

To Coda

54

A.
 thief of time_ but I'll_ have to think a - bout that.

Fl.

58 E Verse 3

A.
 Well a pen - ny saved is a pen - ny earned but what good's a pen - ny an - y - way? A fool and his mon - ey

Fl.

64

A.
 are soon par - ted that's why I'm broke to - day._ Well I want to be a health - y ve - gi - mite but

Fl.

69

-> Chorus

A.
 I just can't stand fruit! Beau - ty's on - ly skin deep, but who cares as long as she's cute!

Fl.

F Coda

75

A.  that. Well these old cli - chés are kil - ling me so sim - ple and con - cise. And I

Fl.

80

A.  kick my - self right in the butt_ for not ta - king their ad - vice. I wan - na

Fl.

84

A.  stay slim be trim, eat right, stay light, still have the last po - ta - ter!_ They say pro -

Fl.

88

A.  cras - tin - a - tion is the thief of time but I'll think a - bout that one la - ter. Well I'll

Fl.

92

A.  d They say pro

Fl.

I'd like to sing some more but I'm runnin' out of rhymes!

96

A.  cras - tin - a - tion is the thief of time but I'll think a - bout that one la - ter.

Fl. 