

Drowning in old clichés

Greg Thomas (Arr. Wayne Richmond, 2023)

Vln. A $\text{♩} = 190$

5 B Verse 1

A. It was a dark and storm - y night not fit for man or beast. I was

Vln. pizz

10

A. sit - ting a - round with a few good friends af - ter feast - ing on too much feast. We were

Vln.

14

A. shoot - ing the bull and chew - in' the fat with - out real - ly much to say. When I

Vln.

18

A. re - al - ised ev - 'ry - thing I said was just an old cli - ché. Well you can

Vln.

23 C Verse 2

A. lead a horse to wa - ter but you can - not make him drink. You can

Vln.

27

A. put an id - ea in my head but you can - not make me think. They

Vln.

31

A. same that time heals all your wounds well I wish it would hur - ry___ up!___

Vln.

35

A. Si - lence is gol - den so why can't I shut up!

Vln.

D Chorus

39
A. These old cli - chés are kil-ling me so sim - ple and con - cise. And I
Vln. arco

44
A. kick my - self right in the butt_ for not ta - king their ad - vice. Well I
Vln. pizz

49
A. want to have my cake and eat it too and still not wind up fat. They say pro -
Vln. arco

53 To Coda
A. cras - tin - a - tion is the thief of time_ but I'll_ have to think a - bout that.
Vln. pizz

58 E Verse 3
A. Well a pen - ny saved is a pen - ny earned but what good's a pen - ny an - y - way? A
Vln.

63
A. fool and his mon - ey are soon par - ted that's why I'm broke to - day._ Well I Vln.

67
A. want to be a health - y ve - gi - mite but I just can't stand fruit!
Vln.

71 --> Chorus
A. Beau - ty's on - ly skin deep, but who cares_ as long as she's cute!
Vln.

75 F Coda

A. that. Well these old cli - chés are kil-ling me so sim - ple and con - cise. And I

Vln. arco

A. kick my - self right in the butt— for not ta - king their ad - vice. I wan - na

Vln. pizz

A. stay slim be trim, eat right, stay light, still have the last po - ta - ter!— They say pro -

Vln. arco

A. cras - tin - a - tion is the thief of time but I'll think a - bout that one la - ter. Well I'll

Vln. pizz

A. d They say pro

Vln.

I'd like to sing some more
but I'm runnin' out of rhymes!

A. cras - tin - a - tion is the thief of time but I'll think a - bout that one la - ter.

Vln. pizz